New hotel projects revealed

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

An 11-story hotel is one of several projects expected to gain approval next Monday at a meeting of the Romulus Planning Commission, according to Richard Viskochil, community and economic development director.

Smith Road does not connect Venoy and Merriman roads yet. After it does, Viskochil said, at the northwest corner of Smith and Merriman, a Radisson Hotel with 350 rooms, a 2,400 square foot restaurant and a large banquet facility, enough to accommodate 650 people, will be built. A four-story wing will house meeting rooms.

The project is part of a Tax Increment Financing Area. Road and other infrastructure improvements would "be grandfathered," as the result of a vote by Michigan State legislatures in December to prohibit new or amended TIFAs until certain legal questions can be resolved, Viskochil said, including the impact on local school districts.

Between the seven-story Days Inn, now the tallest building in Romulus, and the Knights Inn, a three-story luxury motel called Pickett has been proposed.

"This is the suite concept. Each unit is like a small apartment. Some will have adjoining rooms, others small kitchens," he said.

A franchise of Comfort Inn on Middlebelt Road will build a two or three story, 100-unit south and on the same side of their newly opened facility with a free standing Denny's Restaurant nearby.

Viskochil was uncertain of the exact number of jobs the proposed projects would provide, but noted the 11-story Radisson would operate with at least "100 employees."

The estimated cost of the four different projects may total $40 million, with the most expensive being the $10 million Pickett Inn and the $15-20 million Radisson Hotel. Construction costs for the completed Days Inn came to $12 million.

Bumper ball bowling for dollars

The latest craze in Romulus is Bumper Ball Bowling. This new sport is offered to children between the ages of 3 and 8 at Romulus Recreation Bowling Alley on the northwest corner of Huron River Drive and Huron River Drive in Romulus. Bumper ball bowling teaches kids the technique of bowling without having to worry about throwing a gutter ball. The cost is $1 a game. School district pink-slips 81 area teachers

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Eighty-one Romulus teachers face unemployment if all the "pink slips" issued by the school district yesterday remain in effect through end of the school year.

The announcement came following an executive session at the regularly scheduled meeting of school board members Monday evening.

Members of the school board acted on the recommendation of Dr. William Bedell, school superintendent and the Romulus Education Association, the union which represents teachers in the Romulus district.

The combination of declining enrollment and decreased finances have created the problem situation, Bedell noted. "We can't afford to do everything we were doing before. The state now requires that school districts not operate in a deficit," he added.

"The action culminated a lengthy debate about whether or not it was necessary to pink slip so many teachers when actually 23-27 will be laid off by the end of the year," said Dr. Terrel LeCesne, assistant superintendent.

At the center of the controversy, according to LeCesne, was the contract language which called for a 60 day lay-off notice, "but is silent on the question, at what point the counting begins."

The union insisted the end of the 60 days should be the end of the school year. Administrators reason that it should be anytime before the new school year and had initially intended to pass out the pink slips June 1.

Several teachers at the lower end of the seniority scale were concerned about not only who would actually be laid off but

Local woman serves on harassment jury

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

The dissenting voice among jurors in the sensational sexual harassment lawsuit involving a female Detroit police officer came from Gayle Mach, a Romulus resident.

Last Monday seven jurors concluded their deliberation in the month-long trial conducted by Judge James Rashid in Wayne County Circuit Court. The jury awarded the plaintiff, Cherly Preston, 32, $900,000.

Mach agreed there was little doubt Preston was sexually harassed and propositioned at her job as a Detroit Police Officer.

"All jurors agreed on the verdict. In my opinion, it was a bunch of little stuff. When you listen to the case, you know each side exaggerates. You expect lies. It was fascinating case. The trial was involved," Mach said.

Preston filed the suit in 1983 naming five defendants including her commanding officer at the precinct.

Among the jurors, Mach was the only person who felt the award was too much, though significantly lower than the $7 million initially requested.

"That was way too much," she said. "We were at a stand-off. But our decision had to be a package deal. The judge gave instructions that our decision had to be based on actions by the defendants which the average citizen would consider outrageous. If you would tell someone on the street about the case, they would say that's outrageous. We felt the actions were. Only I felt too much money was involved."

Daily life provides author with inspiration

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

"So I Wrote This Poem," is the latest book written by a Romulus resident to hit local retail shelves.

No glossy cover explains fascinating and glorious details about the author or the subject. No famous literary giants have endorsed this endeavor. And inside the book, there is no biography of the writer.

Thelma Matthews of Moore Street, like her plain, tan paperback book, is unpretentious. Matthews has skillfully pulled together a collection of favorite works spanning decades of experience. And what the book lacks in advertising appeal, it more than makes up for in literary insight.

Matthews interprets life around her, not only such festive occasions as anniversaries and birthdays but difficult subjects like war, cancer and drugs. She successfully expresses the personal feelings of life unacknowledged by many of us.

She dedicated the book to her husband of 47 years, Leslie, their only daughter, Bernadette, and their only grandchild, Tavia. She also included the sources of her inspiration, "my family and friends." Their only son, Leslie Jr., died in an auto accident during the Vietnam War.

"I like poetry," said Matthews. "I've always had the ability to express feelings in writing. Each poem is dedicated to a certain person. Each has a special message."

Matthews said she learned to be reflective early in life. Born in Detroit in 1921, her family moved to Romulus five years later. That same year, a train struck and killed her father on Goddard Road. Her mother never remarried and struggled to care for their six children alone.

"Dad was looking for a job when he died," she recalled. "Mother worked hard after that but made life fun. I'm not going to say we didn't see hard times. We all made it into adulthood."

Matthews began her writing career in school and wrote the Romulus High School class poem in 1944, the year she graduated.

Her poems have been published in the "Pageant of Poetry" and for many years in the various local papers of Romulus and Inkster. She also wrote a regular column called, "In and About Romulus." For years, she recited her poetry on an Ypsilanti radio station. This is her first book but definitely not her last, she stated.

She was among the first members at the Parks Memorial African Methodist Episcopical Church in Romulus. Here she and her daughter have written, produced and directed several short plays aimed specifically for young people.

"We have to take care of our youth, especially their brains. Without them there will be no future. Their spirit is so easily destroyed, if not by drugs then by fear," she said.

She and her husband were neighbors while growing up, she lived on Moore and he on Delano. After they married, they built a home in the same neighborhood.

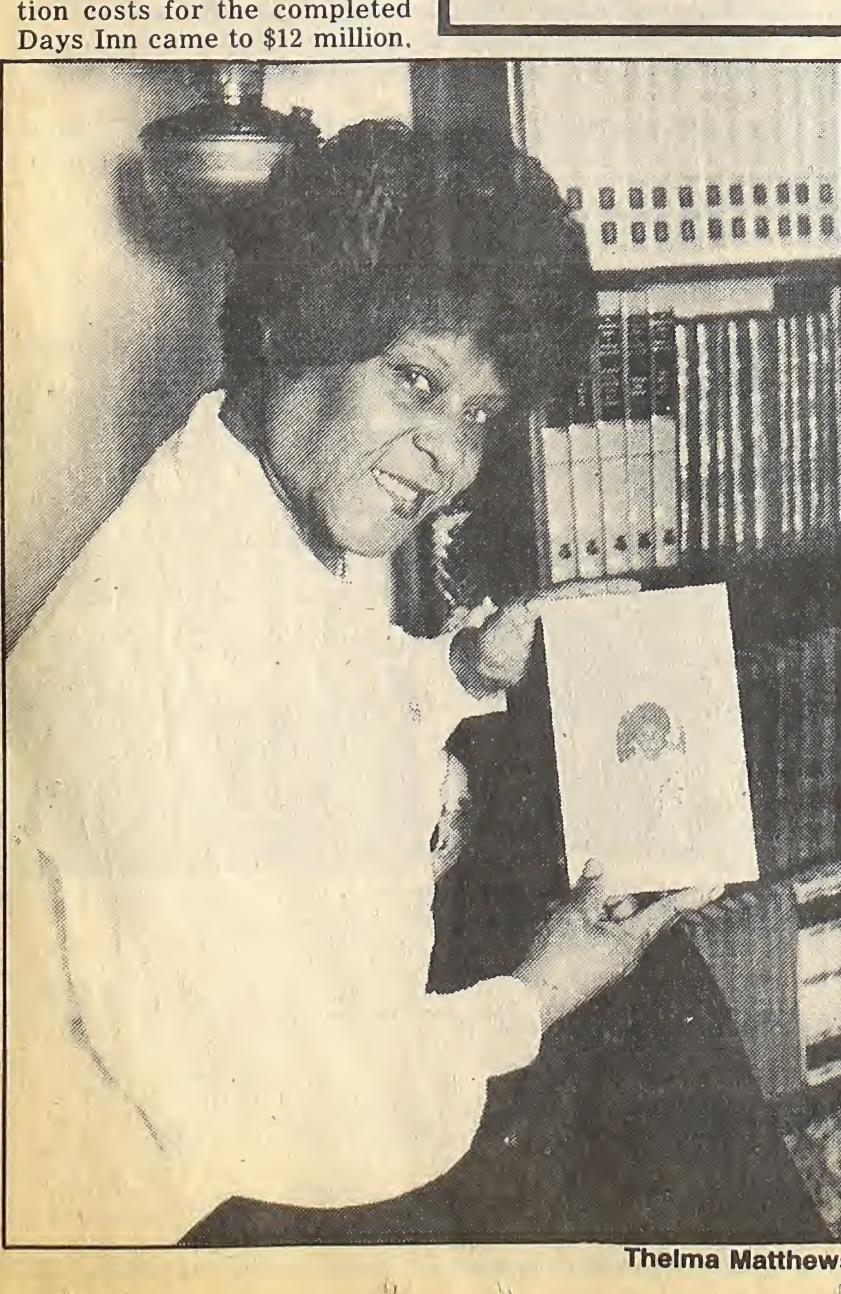

In 1984, she retired after 30 years as a respiratory therapist in the Veterans Hospital of Ann Arbor. "I've worked all my life," she said.

Matthews said her daughter took the book to work and a friend cried after reading it. The poem was "The Misery of War," and the introduction begins,

"During the Vietnam War a friend of mine had a going away party for her son who was going to Vietnam in December. We went to the party. In February, we went to his funeral."

At noon, May 16, Matthews will be the guest speaker at a banquet and fashion show at the Lansdowne Restaurant in Detroit.

Her book, "So I Wrote This Poem," can be purchased at Family Pharmacy in Romulus or by mailing $6 including postage to 11291 Moore Street, Romulus 48174.

Romulus students are going places

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

By the busload, or just a few here and there, Romulus students are going places this year like never before.

In an attempt to broaden their own cultural horizons, several classes throughout the Romulus school system are taking off to points known and some unknown.

Two foreign language stugroups departed during the weekend from Metro Airport to Spain and France. The Spanish Travel Club, under the direction of Linda Poirier, will tour such cities as Sevilla, Cordoba and Madrid.

French teacher, Rosa Williams, and her entourage are expected to "take Paris by storm," according to Jennifer Beck one of the six student travelers.

These French language students will individually live with a French family in Montbeliard, a city located not far from the Swiss Alps, for one week. During their second week, they will tour such famous cities of Strasburg and Paris.

"They will experience French life and culture first hand. It's total cultural immersion. For many, this is their first trip abroad," said Williams.

But these aren't the only Romulus students with wanderlust in their hearts. Early last month, Instructor Timothy Marvin led 30-40 student trainees of the Naval Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps on a three-day field trip to the Naval Air Station in Corpus Christi, Texas.

"Among other things, the trip allows cadets to advertise Romulus High School at a major military facility out of state," Marvin said. Last semester the NJROTC traveled to the naval station in Norfolk, Virginia.

Also last month, Dennis Stoh and the Advanced United States History classes visited, where else, Washington D.C.

Merriman sixth grade students not wanting to be left behind, will take an overnight trip to Niagara Falls and Toronto, Canada in May. A major stop will be the Toronto Science Center. Hayti sixth graders will visit Toronto in June.

The eighth grade social studies department is planning a trip to Mackinac Island in May. Bill Baum will coordinate the motorcoach trip.

Antonia Soave of Romulus Junior High is planning a trip with his French students to Quebec, Canada in late May. "We will depart from Windsor via Rail Canada and spend four days on an educational guided tour of Montreal and Quebec City," he said.

On June 24, Dick Kruse and his award winning Junior High Symphonic Band will celebrate the Sesquicentennial of Michigan with a special performance before President Ronald Reagan and other dignitaries on the Mall in Washington D.C. Students will be lodged at Georgetown University during their three-day stay.

And for the first time in many years, Romulus High School seniors will take a class trip and visit Walt Disney World in Florida.

Romulus School Board members discussed student safety in foreign countries earlier this school year. But after a thorough investigation, members approved the aforementioned trips pending permission slips and travel insurance.

French students were teary eyed as family and friends gathered at Metro Airport on Friday. Michele Good's boyfriend kissed her goodbye. She said her only regret was that he couldn't fit into her suitcase. She explained, the trip cost each student $1,380 which does not include spending money.

"I'm going to love it. I'm so anxious. This is a once in a lifetime chance," said Tammy Jennings who expressed the mutual excitement as she and her classmates hurriedly prepared luggage, visas and passports just an hour before departure time.

Jodee Jernigan admitted, "I'm scared. I've never flown before. The excitement hasn't really hit me yet. I'm looking forward to meeting my French family. I understand both the mother and father work for the car company Peugeot."

"We can't wait to get there. We plan to party," said Cara Cichowski.

"France is not ready for us," added Susan Anderson.

Van Buren schools won't need to borrow against future taxes

The big news at the April 13 meeting of the Van Buren School Board was not what happened, but what didn't happen.

For the first time in 13 years, Jack Hosmer, director of business affairs, did not ask the board to approve the borrowing of money in anticipation of future taxes.

Hosmer said the district would not require tax anticipation money for two reasons. First, he said, the 50-percent summer tax collection which was implemented three or four years ago has cut the need for borrowing by half. The second reason, Hosmer said, is that the school district has stabilized its spending and has been able to maintain a fund reserve. Hosmer said the reserve fund is 5 percent of the revenue.

"This is a very favorable position for the dis-

The business director said the money budgeted for the anticipated interest payments will now be available for other purposes during the 1987-88 school year.

We're waiting for an encore

Residents in all of Wayne County should be applauding local and county officials this week for taking the first step toward a stronger, economically booming and more financially sound community in which to live.

The two political groups met recently for a first-ever legislative forum in which the mutual needs and concerns of all citizens in the area were addressed. Representatives of several of our local communities were present to voice their worries about airport expansion, road improvements, jail overcrowding and litter, to name just a few. But why didn't every city have someone there?

Call it Wayne, Westland, Romulus or Belleville. Call it Wayne County. The fact remains that this area on which we have planted our homes, our families and our lifestyles is dependent on cooperation between all of our neighbors, all of Wayne County.

It is refreshing to see a Wayne County Government that is not at war between the different branches. It is refreshing to see a county-wide concern for subjects like economic development, a clean environment, good roads and recreation. It is, likewise, pleasing to see this same group of county legislators begin to involve the various communities that make up this county in that decision-making process.

You get what you pay for

One of the most horrible and tragic circumstances in society today is a fire at a home or business. How many have seen the utter devastation that the horror of fire wreaks within a home . . . the destruction of a home, and the possessions of a family is horrible enough, but the loss of life, which is ever so prevalent in these situations, is devastating to even contemplate.

This ever-present threat is the reason municipalities throughout our nation employ men to fight the horror of fire, and the motivation which prompts the payment of the wages of these men who, in many circumstances, put their lives on the line battling the horror of fire.

The City of Inkster is presently embroiled in a raging debate concerning the staffing of the municipal fire department. City officials make no secret of the fact that the present budget will not allow for the funding of the type of department that the city has provided for a number of years. Members of the city administration and the city council members have approached the problem from every angle, studied, labored and planned in an effort to provide the protection necessary to the citizens, and yet cost effective.

It isn't an easy task, and these elected and appointed officials seem to receive nothing but criticism on all sides for the plan they have selected to pursue. The plan, prepared by a consulting firm of the highest reputation, is a good one, in theory. It has proven effective in other communities, but the adaptability to the city of Inkster is a question that only time will answer, if the proposal for a volunteer fire department is adopted by the city.

There has been debate, heated and emotional. There has been rational analysis,

But, we've only just begun.

Now is the time for all of the cities, townships and villages of the county to unite for a common goal. Now is the time for the politicians in those same communities to shed their power-base armors of protection and begin to work with one another for a better area for us all.

Sewers are not only a concern to Canton Township. Airport expansion raises the investor's curiosity in more cities than just Romulus. And, no city to date has been able to find itself immune from a local crime problem.

Likewise, the papal visit, road improvements and litter have no citywide boundaries for the concerned citizens of Wayne County.

The legislative forum of last week was a good start, but these meetings must continue on a frequent and consistent basis to promote better living for us all. We urge the officials that attended this meeting to invite their neighbors that perhaps didn't find the time to attend. We urge the citizens who have county-wide concerns to discuss these ideas with their local lawmakers.

Local and county lawmakers, we're applauding your recent performance. Now, we're waiting for an encore.

there have been claims and counter claims. Firefighters contend that a volunteer department could eventually cost the city more than full-time employees. They cite the safety factors and insurance requirements, suggesting that the liability of the city will increase tremendously with the implementation of the volunteer plan.

We have listened to both sides of the argument and agree with points that each of them make. The city administration is doing its very best to provide the service within the cost constraints presently in place, and the firefighters sincerely believe that a volunteer fire department is not sufficient for the city.

We would suggest, probably to the irritation of both sides in the controversy, that this decision be made by the people. We would strongly endorse a special election to determine the desires of the residents in this matter. If the citizens are content with a volunteer department, then that is the direction in which the city should move. If, however, citizens demand the full-time protection presently available, they must be willing not only to vote for it, but to pay for it.

We would endorse this special vote of the people only if it were to include the funding of the fire department by the approval of a millage to provide the money necessary to pay for it.

The question seems simple, would the people of Inkster accept a volunteer fire department at the present rate of tax, or do they wish a full-time department and authorize a special tax levy to fund it.

This is a choice the people should make, but the people must be ready to accept the consequences of that choice, no matter what it might be.

I owe who?

For reasons not presently known to me, a number of people have recently decided how much I "owe" them. I suppose, to a degree, that is a normal hazard of being in business, but it seems unusual that I have the questionable honor of dealing with such an array of would-be debtors, all at the same time. Self-pity aside, either there is a full moon, or a sign pinned to my back which reads, "Kick me, I'm stupid."

What I find particularly interesting is that by-and-large very few, if any, of these people claiming that I owe them are people that I feel any indebtedness toward.

On the other hand, people that I do feel are owed something by yours truly would in general suggest that I don't owe them a thing.

What happens when someone spends their life in the service of a company, and then one day decides they can't, won't, or simply don't want to work any longer.

The government tells us that there is Social Security to which we have contributed throughout our working years to help us in our retirement. We all know that Social Security is inadequate at best to serve our primary retirement income needs.

Individual retirement accounts were, of course, supposed to aid in the cause of providing for the growing number of retirement-age citizens who are living longer and longer.

Then come pensions from military service, pensions from larger companies, spouses' pensions and inheritances.

Now, if people cannot work, or no longer wish to work, and the funding for their retirement is not adequate or available, where do they go to augment the income for their golden years? And if they have squandered the resources they once had, made unwise choices about spending or investing, then who should bear the brunt of their mistakes or lack of planning? Many of them, lately, appear to think it is the employer who provided a source of income for them during their working years.

And when these folks get themselves convinced that they have every right to be indignant, then any means can be justified in pursuit of their commitment to "getting even."

What I find most interesting is that these wronged souls may not be at all sure who "they" are. In the absence of what amounts to someone who has a legitimate debt, any victim will do. If a valid case for a claim doesn't exist, they can alter the facts to fulfill their needs.

I have seen people fighting what I call ghosts. Those against whom these tormented individuals may in fact have some claim are long since gone. So, in their deluded state they decide they will extract their bounty from whichever poor soul is available.

I see little difference between such a mentality and that of a thief or burglar who feels wronged by society and determined to make amends on their own terms. Life is a journey that we experience along with our fellow man. If we work for a company and they provide employment, a paycheck and benefits, do we owe the company? I don't think so. If you feel a sense of loyalty to people who thought enough of you to employ you for a number of years, who paid you for the time you spent in their employ and who trained you, taught you and tolerated you, that's wonderful. But there is no debt owed.

Does the company owe a debt above and beyond wages and benefits paid? The answer

Timeless elegance

'Clean Fund' bill is law

Late last session the state Legislature passed a major environmental bill which will affect generations of Michigan citizens for years to come.

The Clean Michigan Fund Act, signed by the Governor in December of last year, created the Clean Michigan Fund in the Department of Treasury which funds studies and programs exploring alternatives to landfills for solid waste disposal. The fund consists of general-fund appropriations, gifts and donations to the fund and any other funds provided by law.

Contrary to what many of us have heard or read, there is no such thing as a safe "sanitary" landfill. Landfills are an inherently flawed method of solid waste disposal. Many landfills have been placed in geologically unsuitable sites or have been operated in ways that resulted in groundwater contamination. But even landfills constructed with the best available technology and run efficiently will eventually leak and pose a threat to the environment. It is, therefore, essential that safe alternative disposal methods are developed.

The Clean Michigan Fund sponsors studies to determine the extent of solid waste problems in the state and the feasibility of landfill alternatives. The fund also provides for grant programs to help with the costs of closing standard landfills and dumps and to construct and operate landfill alternatives. Education programs in resource recovery and household hazardous waste disposal are also covered under the act.

The Act will expire in 1989, at which time the Natural Resources Commission will analyze the studies and assessments that have been made and report to the legislature their findings. Particularly important will be the NRC's evaluation of the feasibility of building recycling, composting and waste-to-energy facilities. By exploring ways of disposing of solid wastes other than by burying them, the burden on existing landfill space can be reduced and future contamination can be averted.

The Clean Michigan Act is not a lifetime guarantee of environmental protection. It is, however, an important step toward assuring a safe and healthy environment for our children and their children. The Act — through grants and studies — promotes the technology necessary for humankind to live with its own modernization and consumerism.

Sell or not to sell

Beard, Mack at odds on sale

The controversy regarding the sale of the Westland Medical Center heated up last week as Wayne County Commissioner Kay Beard released a 19-page report condemning the proposal.

A consortium including Garden City Osteopathic Hospital, Oakwood Hospital Corporation, Southwest Detroit Hospital Corporation and Peoples Community Hospital Authority has offered to buy the medical center.

Beard has publicly announced her intent to attempt to stop the sale, citing the need for emergency care at the Westland facility as imperative in the area.

"The former Wayne County General Hospital (now known as Westland Medical Center) should be retained for the use as a partially dedicated facility for AIDS patients, as well as for the care of the indigents and as a major trauma center," the report, written by Beard, stated.

In a telephone interview, Beard backed her claim to have WMC used in the battle against AIDS.

"AIDS is the biggest health problem in the country, the geometric proportions concerning its growth make it frightening. We as government officials are going to have to care for these people (AIDS patients), there are no two ways about it. It makes good sense to prepare, this is one of the few times that we have a slight chance to prepare," she said.

According to Wayne County Commissioner Milton Mack, the public would not accept an AIDS facility. Mack, who also is on the board of directors of PCHA, one of the member hospitals in the proposed consortium, thinks it's a bad idea for the county to get back into the hospital business.

"Who's going to pay for it? The county is deep in debt, and Westland Medical Center isn't even equipped to research AIDS. We have a number of hospitals in the area that can treat AIDS patients."

According to Beard, the funding would have to come from the state or federal government.

Mack also cited the reported over bedding in Wayne County. Mack said he did not see a need for Westland Medical Center as an AIDS facility, "let alone having the county pay for it."

"I don't think it's (Wayne County) over bedded. When you consider the possibility of major tragedies in Wayne County. When you have a hospital (WMC) with the capabilities it has, it should take precedence over some of the other hospitals in the area," Beard said, disputing the over bedding claim.

There are two public hearings scheduled, according to Beard, to allow people to express their views on the proposed sale and any comments or documentation they may want to present can be addressed at these hearings. The first is at 10 a.m. Monday, April 20, at the City County Building. The second is slated for 10 a.m. Tuesday, April 21, in the council chambers of Westland City Hall, on Ford Road in Westland.

Conference still pushing for '911'

Eleven of the 18 member communities sent representatives to the Conference of Western Wayne conducted at Romulus City Hall last week.

Attending mayors and community officials discussed several issues impacting residents in western Wayne County.

The status of the enhanced 911 emergency telephone system proposed for Wayne County was reviewed as well as district court funding, the solid waste problem and industrial development regulations by the Department of Natural Resources.

Wayne County Commissioner Kay Beard made a special appearance to discuss her latest proposals dealing with health care in western Wayne County and the need to retain a local public hospital. She suggested among other options that Westland Medical Center be converted into a facility for patients with Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome.

Members approved the application for "Clean Michigan" funds which would be used to hire a full-time recycling program coordinator.

Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnalley noted that the city of Romulus is positioned between western Wayne communities and those Downriver and "understands the need for a trauma center." She also initiated a motion that fellow members approved which requested receipts and expenditures from the local district courts.

The tentative target date for the implemented enhanced 911 would be March 1, 1990, after the proposal is reviewed by members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners in May, one official noted.

CITY FARMERS

Farming booms in industrial town

By MARK NICHOLAS
ANP Staff Writer

Detroit, Wayne, Westland, and Canton Township may be very business-oriented communities, with industry and development abounding. They are also, however, among the biggest producers of farm products in Wayne County.

That's right, Wayne County, although one of the most industrialized counties in the United States, is also big on farming.

According to David Pratt, agricultural extension agent for Wayne County, there are 439 farms and approximately 37,326 acres of land used for farming in Wayne County alone.

Pratt admits that times have been better for area farmers and while there are 439 farms now, there were 463 in 1978. While the number of farms has decreased, in 1978 the average size of a farm was 72 acres, while the 1982 census figures reported the average size to be 85 acres.

There are 775 people employed in the farming industry in this county, Pratt said, and farmers pay $1.9 million for labor.

In addition to the labor costs, the farmer in Wayne County pays an average property tax of $7,000, according to Pratt.

Farming in Wayne County produces revenues exceeding $13 million during a year from the acreage devoted to farming and the exceptionally large variety of products grown in the state.

Take corn for instance. There are approximately 7,500 acres of corn grown in Wayne County, according to Pratt. Soybeans are big in Wayne County as well, 9,000 acres of land are set aside for this crop.

In the spring and summer, vegetable stands are popping up all around the county. There is good reason, according to Pratt.

"There are 1,900 acres of vegetables or truck crops grown in Wayne County. These are things like sweet corn, tomatoes, cabbage and cucumbers, any of the things you would find at a roadside stand. Wayne County is one of the leading counties in Michigan for roadside stands," he said.

Walter Rochowiak, president of the Farm Bureau Board of Directors, also shares an enthusiasm for the farming potential in this industrialized area.

"This is such a diversified county, we have greenhouses, sod, nursery stock, grain farming, specialized farming and you-pick operations. The people around here are very fortunate, you can go and buy directly from the grower and save money," he said.

The you-pick operations, according to Rochowiak, are extremely practical. The city is so close that people don't have to drive far to pick the products they want to can, he said. In addition, Rochowiak said there are also you-cut Christmas trees in Wayne County and even places to buy a fresh Thanksgiving turkey, freshly dressed, directly from the farmer.

Greenhouses are big business. According to Pratt,

Romulus resident leaves plow, stock and farm

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

A small crowd of people gathered and rummaged nonchalantly through some of the most prized possessions of farmer John Hadyniak of Romulus recently, offering disinterested comments and gestures as they examined the accumulation of a lifetime of hard work and unstinting devotion.

Earlier this month, he did what most farmers do when they finally surrender to the hardships of the farming business, he conducted an auction. Perhaps the proceeds will pay some bills, or perhaps he and his wife, Esther, can retire now.

Hadyniak watched as his John Deere diesel tractor, combine with straw chopper and "13-foot grain table," disc with new blades, plows, planters, cultivators, sprayers, augers, "plus a wagon load of farm miscellaneous," and a 1953 Dodge truck with 5,000 miles were sold off one by one to the highest bidder. But can a price be put on a lifetime of accomplishment?

The Hadyniak family has farmed in Romulus since 1918 when John's father, Mike, came to America from Austria at the age of 11. John's two brothers still run the family farm.

Long known in the Romulus community, the Hadyniak farm sits nestled between the airport and Wayne Road and city hall and Grant Road. Modern public buildings provide a stark contrast for grazing cows in the foreground.

The two brothers, Nick and Jim, operate one of the few dairy operations in Wayne County with a small herd of 38 cows. The original farm was down the road at Vining and Grant. Mike had increased the size from 40 acres to 120. After the airport claimed their property in 1952, the size of the farm was reduced to 20 acres and their 10-year-old home was relocated on its present site, west of the airport. However, the brothers plant 3,400 acres on rented property.

"We're losin' our pants," said Nick. "The profit margin is just not there. We couldn't plant early enough last spring. It was too wet. And the fall before, we never even harvested the crops because of heavy rains and an early freeze. That was our worst year. Sometimes, it doesn't matter what you do."

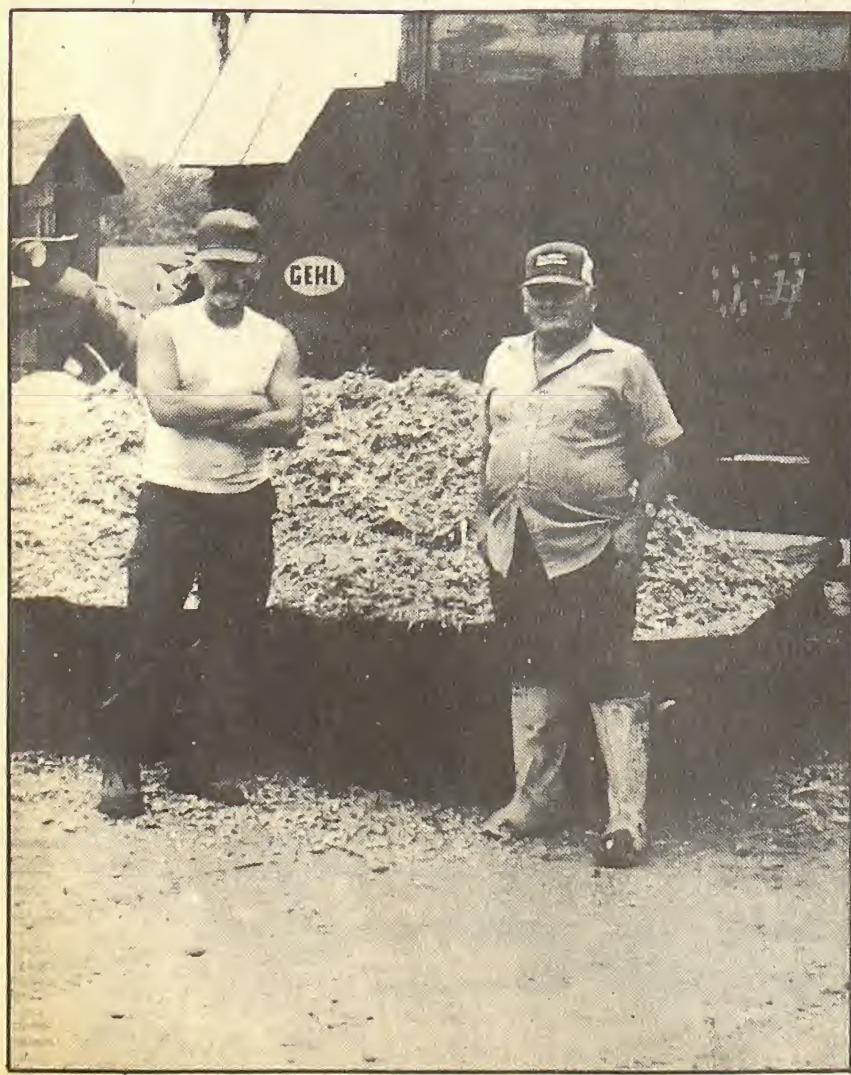

He said that farmers who stay in the business are having a hard time. "But you're born into it. It's in your blood. I work 30 hours a day and eight days a week," Nick added.

The Hadyniak family strongly pointed out that they receive no public assistance from the federal government. Yet, in 1985, they earned $3.50 for a bushel of wheat and last year only $3.

"I really wonder if city people know where their food and milk come from. Farmers who lease land can pay the rent and then have nothing left. Around here, it's cheaper to rent because you can't make enough farming to pay the taxes. We try to help each other out. Maybe next year will be better," Nick said.

"Farming is a good gamble, ain't it? Sometimes I just want to pack up my suitcase and leave," said Jim.

Nick's 32-year-old son, Rick, is the only third generation Hadyniak to follow in his father's footsteps. But for how long, his family members wonder.

Seeing stars

Westland resident debuts in top horror film

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Now showing at your neighborhood theater is "Evil Dead II" starring among others, Denise Bixler, 1983 graduate of John Glenn High School in Westland.

Bixler is hardly ready to sit back and bask in the glory of her many accomplishments. While her resume reads like a page of a local Who's Who, Bixler explained, "The end result is I want everything, not just a career but a relationship and a family. I intend to keep all of my life going."

Strong words for a girl who never attended college. She did, however, graduate magna cum laude with a 3.7 grade point average. Her skills as an actress earned two different scholarships. Her charm, talent and beauty garnered her the 1983 title of Wayne-Westland Junior Miss. That same year she became first runner-up as the Michigan Junior Miss. She has won several other similar competitions.

Bixler has modeled for the auto show and performed in several commercials and industrial films. Her face has appeared on the covers of two Monthly Detroit magazines and inside Vogue. She's modeled for all the major auto companies including the cover of Ford Motorsport. Pick up national posters for Kodak, Vic Tanny or ads for FTD Florists and you'll find Bixler.

She skipped college because, "I knew if I went to school, my career would not have taken off," she said. In place of academic knowledge, Bixler trained 12 years as a dancer to include ballet, jazz, ballroom, tap and Hawaiian.

She has trained her singing voice for eight years now. Bixler will perform live this Saturday on the nationwide program from Detroit, Saturday Night Music Machine. There she will show her music video, "Since I focus on people

Fell For You," an old Ella Fitzgerald tune. She will sing, "Be My Baby," live. Stay tuned.

ASSOCIATED NEWSPAPERS: When did you audition for the part of Linda in the movie, "Evil Dead II?"

BIXLER: This is how the story goes. I was modeling in Detroit where the auditions for this movie were conducted. Thousands of girls attended the mass audition. They needed someone who could dance. Then I waited.

Four months went by and I called my agent. "Have you heard anything?" I asked. Rumors went around that another girl got the part. I was offered a modeling contract in Japan with the Daisho International agency. I figured I didn't get the part.

After I was there three months, I got a phone call on Saturday morning. I remember it well. My agent called and said I was in a movie. I thought he was mixed up. Turned out, I got the part.

ANP: How important is the character Linda in the movie?

BIXLER: First off, I'm fifth in the credits. That's pretty good. And I get killed the best. It's the most dramatic. The movie starts out with a Michigan State University co-ed, that's me, going to a cabin with her boyfriend.

Then the evil force gets me. I become possessed and attack my boyfriend. He chops my head off with a shovel and it rolls off somewhere, like gone. He buries my body and I come back to life and I'm nastier than ever. I'm not dead yet. It takes a lot to kill a girl from Westland. We don't die easy.

ANP: Do you like this kind of movie?

BIXLER: Not normally. But this is not a slasher movie. It's gory but the blood isn't real. Viewers have to use their imagination. The movie is very, very funny with lots of satire and sarcasm. Reviews in Newsweek, Time and Variety have been fantastic, rating the movie a seven on a scale of 10 or at least three out of four stars.

The first movie cost just $400,000. Number two had a budget of $4 million.

ANP: Is your modeling career on hold?

BIXLER: I love modeling. The industry in Detroit is really growing. There's a lot of work. After I returned from North Carolina last June after a month of filming, I began modeling again. Modeling is not the glamorous job many people think. I've made more changes in cramped bathrooms than you'll ever know. Models put on their own makeup and fix their own hair. I still do.

But May 1st I'm moving to

New York to work with Elite, the biggest model agency in the world. Basically, I want to be successful and recognized for my accomplishments and ambition.

ANP: How does Westland fit into your plans?

BIXLER: I'm really glad I grew up here. I was born in Paw Paw, Mich., but I attended all Westland schools, Madison Elementary, Stevenson Junior High and John Glenn High School.

My parents, Mary and Bill, have been married 42 years. They're very proud of me. My mother thinks the movie is absolutely hilarious and completely different than anything you'd expect. I'm the youngest of four children.

Westland is my hometown. With my parents and family it provided me with a strong moral foundation. I'll always have a home in Michigan.

Farming facts and figures...

Although the smokestacks of western Wayne County industries tower above the silos and barns, farming is still big business for several local residents.

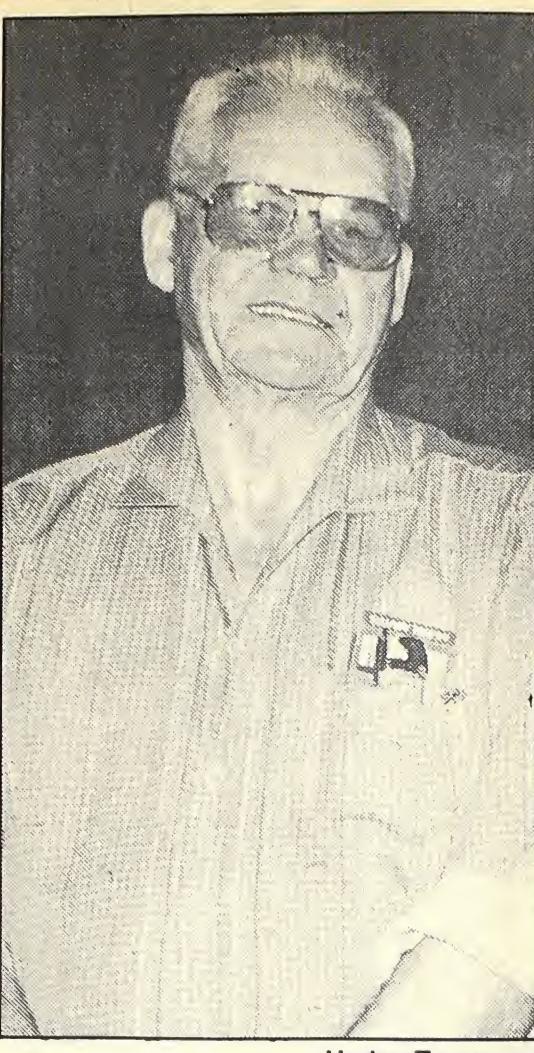

According to officials from the county Cooperative Extension and Education Center, more farms are located in western Wayne County than anywhere else in the region. And, the Cooperative Extension official said, farming should be surviving alongside the smokestacks for many years to come.

Harley Townsend

Farming

Wayne County has these giant incubators popping up like weeds.

"Wayne County is also a leading producer of greenhouse nursery products. There are 2 million square feet of greenhouse in Wayne County."

The farmers in Wayne County are as diverse as the farms, according to Don Juchartz, independent horticultural consultant and former director and 30-year veteran of the Michigan State University

Agricultural Program. Juchartz said that 85 percent of Wayne County farmers are part-timers, which means they actually work at other jobs to augment their incomes.

Truly home made

Back-yard gardening still popular

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

The saying "you can take the boy out of the farm, but you can't take the farm out of the boy" may be true as evidenced by Harley Townsend of Sumpter Township.

Townsend grew up on a farm in Marquette, lived in Willow and eventually located on Elwell Road in Sumpter Township. For as long as Townsend can remember, he has put out a garden every spring. Fellow members of the Sumpter Senior Citizens Club singled out Townsend as a man "with a beautiful garden."

His wife, Marion, has dubbed him "an Indian" because of his style of planting.

The Sumpter gardener said it is too early to predict whether or not he will have a good garden this year "because you never know until it starts to grow."

Townsend currently is waiting for the ground to dry out enough to rototill. He spaces his rows of vegetables so that he can continue to use his rototiller and forego the harder task of hoeing. After the rototilling, Townsend will fertilize the half-acre plot and later plant an array of tomatoes, corn, lettuce, radishes, green beans and everbearing strawberries.

"I plant 15 to 16 rows of corn, 50 to 60 tomato plants and a couple of rows of potatoes," Townsend said.

At harvest time, Townsend helps his wife to can the bounty from their garden. The reputation of his corn brings buyers to his door, and some of the produce is given away to friends and neighbors.

After a typical season Marian Townsend puts up some 30 quarts of tomato juice, 25 quarts of bread and butter pickles, 30 quarts of stewed tomatoes and 60 quarts of green beans.

"Some of our Michigan beans go to Arizona when my sister comes to visit," she said. "They don't have good beans like ours out there."

Wilton Berry, president of the Sumpter Senior Citizens Advisory Council, plants a half-acre garden each year "to keep me going. It's a job I enjoy."

Berry said he gets up early each morning to work in his garden and about 11 a.m. stops his work, cleans up and visits the Senior Citizens Center.

Green beans, okra, sweet corn and peppers are grown on his Sumpter Road property. He shares the surplus of his garden with other senior citizens.

Tom T. Hall makes local appearance

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

Tom T. Hall will spin some musical yarns in Belleville when the country-western singer is featured at the Strawberry Festival.

Hall, who has been dubbed "The Storyteller," has written many country ballads including "Harper Valley PTA" which was made into a book, movie and a television series. Among his hits are "Old Dogs, Children and Watermelon Wine," "I Love" and "The Day Clayton Delaney Died."

The singer began playing the guitar at the age of four and wrote his first song at nine. He continued writing and performing through his high school years and while in the service. In the early '60s he mailed his first songs to a publishing company in Nashville. His early tunes were recorded by Burl Ives, Bobby Bare, Dave Dudley and Jimmy C. Newman. In 1968 he signed with Mercury records and recorded his first single, "I Washed my Face in the Morning Dew."

Through the years Halls songs have been recorded by Perry Como, George Jones, Loretta Lynn, Johnny Cash, George Burns and Patti Page. Hall has appeared on several television shows and has recorded more than 30 albums.

Hall won a Grammy in 1969 and is a member of the Grand Ole Opry.

Tickets for the concert are on sale at Hayward's Party Store, 573 Main St., Belleville, for $10 each. Hall will perform at 4 and 7 p.m. on June 20 and 21.

six hits for the victory. Joe Bracheau took the loss.

Jefferson drew first blood, scoring one run in the opening frame. But the Chiefs tied the score and went ahead 2-1 in the bottom of the inning when Andrew Jackson led off with a single, Mike Smith followed with a base hit and, after a sacrifice, Jeff Debozy came through with a two-run single.

The Chiefs made it a 4-1 ball-game in the third, but Jefferson erupted for four runs in their fourth to take a 5-4 advantage. In that same inning the Chiefs again tied the score when Dan Porter started things going with a leadoff walk, stole second and eventually scored on a passed ball.

The score remained tied at 5-all until the bottom of the seventh when Rich Gubbini got aboard on a walk, was singled to second by John Umin and both runners scored when Dan Kozlowski hit a medium depth fly ball to left center and the outfielder miss judged it for a two-base error.

Against Carlson, Huron again needed rallies to overcome their stubborn league rival. Page went 6 2/3 innings and got relief help from Jeff Debozy, who got the last two outs and the save. Michael Jordon was charged with the loss.

Huron put two runs on the scoreboard in the second on a Smith single, Cullen McKinney was safe on an infield error, then designated hitter Dan Lincoln sliced a two-run double.

"It was nice to see Lincoln come through like that. He gave the team a real big lift."

Coach LaBeau

New Boston Huron

chased home on a single by Mike Smith.

Carlson scored what proved to be its final run in the seventh and loaded the bases before LaBeau decided on a pitching change. Debozy took over and gave up a single before getting the final two out of the game.

Huron's schedule this week started off with a league game at home with Airport and they were slated to play Grosse Ile last night before traveling to Riverview today for the final conference meeting before Easter vacations.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF VAN BUREN PUBLIC HEARING MINUTES REQUEST FOR CLASS C LIQUOR LICENSE APRIL 7, 1987

Public Hearing convened at 7:15 p.m. Present: Hamilton, Dudick, Foster, Heifner, Hudson, Kuchta and O'Brien. Others in attendance: Chief Davies, Secretary Tadrick and audience of twenty five.

Public Hearing was scheduled in accordance with Ordinance 8-14-84. Applicants on file, for remaining Class C License, were invited to make a presentation including type of facility, completion date, plans and specifications, etc. Two Applicants responded.

Owner of restaurant currently in operation at 9820 Haggerty Road is expanding his facility to include an additional dining and banquet room. Currently employs twelve, expects to double employees when expansion is completed next month. Owner of the Shopping Center spoke in favor of applicant who has a twelve year lease with option for renewal and requested Township allocate license to Mr. Otterson. Area residents and patrons also spoke in support of license being issued to Mr. Otterson. No objections were received from the audience in attendance.

Regional Director of a Domestic Hotel Division interested in developing a full service facility with a major franchise at Metro Center Park stating they would be ready to commence development by the end of the year if approval was favorable. Member of the audience stated a Resort License could be applied for as the MLCC adds twenty five new Resort Licenses each year.

There being no further comments or question from the audience in attendance the Public Hearing was closed at 7:50 p.m.

Clarification

A story about the Wayne Chamber of Commerce in the April 8 "Salute to Chambers" section in our paper was not clear in describing the efforts by the local organization in securing new businesses, chamber officials report.

"The Wayne Chamber is vitally concerned as well as active in the attraction of new business to our community," said Donna McEachern, executive secretary. "The strength of our business community lies in continuing growth and expansion."

Local dentist calms fears with puppets

By MARK NICHOLAS
ANP Staff Writer

A trip to the dentist isn't what it used to be, at least not to the dental office of Dr. William F. Hill of Romulus.

Students from several Romulus schools have experienced visits to Hill's office as part of extra-curricular field trips to help alleviate the fear and uncertainty usually associated with trips to the dentist.

According to Office Manager Pat Bacha, kids from all over Romulus have come to watch the puppet show which is part of the field trip, performed right in the office lobby.

"This is the third puppet show we've done. We did it one time and got such a favorable response from the schools and principals and the community that we decided to continue these next year," she said.

The field trip, according to Bacha, consists of several aspects designed to help orient children to the necessity of the dentist and assuage their natural fears. The program includes a puppet show performed by "The Masked Puppet Theater" from Ann Arbor, followed by a talk by dental hygienist June Cevora about, what else, teeth. She explains flossing, cleaning and proper snack foods for the children.

Hill then performs a visual inspection for each child, using only a tongue depressor. The visitors then each receive a report card from the dentist grading the care they give their teeth.

business profiles

Then, just before returning to school, each student receives a gift, usually a balloon and a tooth brush.

If during the visual examination, Hill finds any problem with one of his visitors, he sends a note to the parents home with the child.

This field trip, tentatively called "Kids Day" by the Hill's employees, is a great way to introduce the kids to the dentist office, according to Cevora.

"We go through what it would be like for the kids on their first 'real' visit. We show them the instruments, the chair, and all the workings of a dentist office. We familiarize the kids with the office and answer any questions they may have," she said.

According to Hill, the idea of a field trip or puppet show is not that unusual in the dental business. Hill said that other dentists have been doing it for up to five years. There came a time when dentistry had to change, Hill said.

"When the dentist-to-population ratio started to decrease, dentists had to market themselves just like any other business to make themselves known. It's important to reach your community and schools. If you reach the kids, the rest of the family will follow."

Postmen help taxpayers

The Westland Post Office will stay open late tonight to help local taxpayers beat Uncle Sam's April 15 tax return deadline.

According to Postmaster Lloyd A. Wesley Jr., the Westland office, located on Wayne Road, near Hunter, in Westland, will have a clerk on duty from 6 p.m. to midnight to collect tax returns and have them postmarked "April 15."

"We're going to keep someone there late to grab the returns as customers drive up," Wesley explained. "They won't even have to get out of their cars. Just give them to us on their way."

Although Wesley is postmaster of the Wayne, Westland and Canton post offices, he said that only the Westland branch office will feature the extended hours. However, any local resident can mail his return at the Westland office.

ALTHOUGH TOO LATE for tax time, the Plymouth-Canton area post office will conduct a customer mail clinic to inform business customers about new mailing procedures, mail services and products.

The clinic will begin at 9 a.m. and run until noon April 23 at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer St., Plymouth.

Information will include the latest news on post office automation, ZIP plus 4, first-class presort mailing, third-class bulk and Express Mail.

For more information or to register for the clinic, call 453-6111 or 226-8672.

Country Cookin'

Area cook is making meals
grandmother would envy

Guests arrive unexpectedly, and the strawberry pie isn't quite ready. No problem. Roy Schultz browses the latest issue of the Farm Journal while he sits at the kitchen table of the family's century old farmhouse on Lilley Road in Canton. Tillie, his wife, pops dinner in the microwave.

While Roy reads, Tillie talks about life on the family farm. Contrary to the "historical marker" in front of their house, many substantial activities have occurred here.

"I do everything the fast way," said Tillie. "Roy likes lunch at noon sharp. I start to prepare the meal at 11:45, put it in the microwave, and we're eating by 12."

Such are the confessions of a modern-day farmer's wife. "Once you get the food in the oven, then you can do what you want to do," she said.

And she uses her time productively. As mother of four daughters and grandmother to five boys and five girls, "they had to even it out," she explained. Tillie not only works full-time at home but is active in the community as well.

For many years, she taught 4H kids. "Each Saturday day, 22 girls learned how to cook in my kitchen," she said. During the Canton Sesquicentennial in 1984, she served as chairman of the cookbook committee and published a collection of local recipes. It was a major success. This year, she is chairman of the Canton Historical Society, and they, too, are gathering information to publish a book.

While expensive condominiums sprout up across the street and sprawling manufacturing buildings close in from behind, the microwave on the kitchen sink is evidently not the only sign of progress around the Schultz farm.

"We could never see I-275 before," Tillie said pointing to her back yard beyond the large red barn. "It was pretty rural even until last year when we counted seven red foxes eating dog food underneath the silo."

However, the Schultz family easily adapted to the changes around them. They married in 1945 and moved into their old home one year later. Roy, like his father, was a born farmer. Even when he worked at Ford Motor Company for 12 years, he farmed. And in the fields, Tillie, with their four daughters was right beside him.

"They were our hired help. Each one knew how to drive the tractor, work the fields and manage the roadside stand. I never canned much but always froze vegetables. The girls would come to pick vegetables and divided everything equally. They learned to work together, play together and have fun together. When you get something from your work, everybody is satisfied," she explained.

Today, most of the farmland has been sold except for two acres. At one time, 14-20 acres were planted in strawberries alone. "My middle name is strawberry," joked Tillie whose trademark can be found in the table centerpiece, the wallpaper and the curtains.

There is a major change on the Schultz farm this year. No garden. For the first time, there will be no fresh rhubarb, strawberries, peppers, corn or asparagus.

Yet, the aroma of garden fresh vegetables simmering on the stove and in the microwave, so familiar to the Schultz family and friends, will continue.

ASPARAGUS HAM BAKE

1 cup cooked rice, drained
10 ounce can cream of mushroom soup
3/4 cup milk
2 cups cooked ham
2 ounces sharp process American cheese, shredded
1 small finely chopped onion
1 10-ounce package frozen asparagus, cooked and drained

In bowl, put soup, milk, ham, cheese, onion and rice.

Spoon half of the mixture in 10 x 6 x 1 1/2 inch baking dish. Top with asparagus. Add remaining ham mixture.

Combine 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs with 2 tablespoons melted butter. Sprinkle over mixture.

Bake 375 degrees for 45-50 minutes. Serves 6.

EASY STRAWBERRY PIE

Place in pan;
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup water
3 tablespoons cornstarch
Cook until clear. Add 1 large package strawberry Jello and 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Wash 1 quart strawberries, enough to fill pie shell. Leave whole and place in large bowl. Pour liquid mixture over berries. Stir. Pour into 1 graham cracker pie shell. Refrigerate.

Top with Cool Whip when served.

RHUBARB UPSIDE DOWN CAKE

9 x 13 x 2 greased cake pan
Put 4 cups cut up rhubarb and 1 large package strawberry jello in bowl or pan.

In mixing bowl, prepare yellow cake mix following directions on box.

Pour over rhubarb. Bake 350 degrees or until toothpick comes out clean.

Top with Cool Whip or ice cream.

Grandma knows best when it comes to nutrition

Read the latest food news? It doesn't matter what was bad for your health yesterday, today it will be something else. Remember the warnings about the terrible things butter did to your cholesterol level? Seems that butter is actually helpful in that butter is actually helpful in ridding the body of other, harmful agents which lead to hardening of the arteries and strokes.

And there was a time when you had to have red meat in your diet for the protein, remember? Now red meat is poison, or was until just last month when some new studies determined that it is necessary to our health. And milk, remember nature's most perfect food? Health gurus were telling anyone who would listen about the harm dairy foods did to their levels of cholesterol...and now, well, we're back to needing milk desperately in order to meet our nutritional needs.

Which leads to the conviction that no matter what it is, somebody is going to think it's bad for us, and no matter what was bad for us yesterday, it's probably good for us now. And above all, Grandma was probably right. She handed out good, common-sense advice about food, told us to eat our vegetables and drink our milk, made sure we had meat once in a while, when it was affordable, and was the best cook on the block.

Grandma has been much-maligned lately, but it would appear she knew what she was doing...and has the recipes to prove it. Here are but two old, old favorites. They prove without a doubt that sometimes new isn't better and experience really does count, especially in the kitchen.

JIFFY FRUIT COBBLER (ALSO COURTESY OF GRANNIE)

1/2 cup butter (yes, butter)
1 cup flour
1 cup sugar
1 cup milk

1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 quart sweetened fruit or berries, strained (canned peaches are GREAT!)

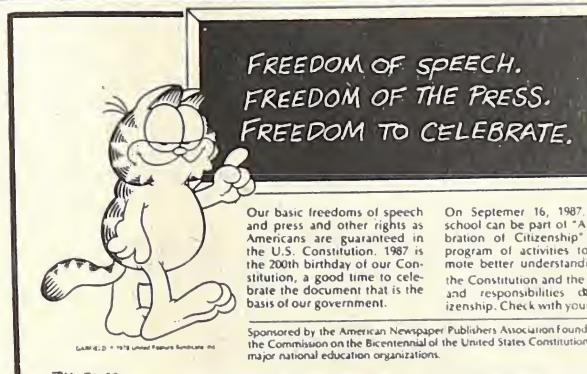

Melt the stick of butter in a 9x9 pan in a 375-degree oven. Make a very thin batter of the remaining ingredients, except the fruit. Pour the batter over the melted butter in the pan and then add the sweetened fruit evenly. Bake at 375 degrees for 35 to 45 minutes. Serve warm. (Note: A glass pan will provide a much crispier crust.)

GRANDMA'S CHOCOLATE PIE FILLING

1 1/2 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cocoa (the real stuff)
5 tablespoons cornstarch
3 cups milk
1/2 teaspoon salt

Mix this together and cook over medium heat, stirring constantly (well, almost constantly, especially when it begins to thicken to prevent scorching) until very thick. Remove from heat and add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Pour into pre-baked pie shell, cool, top with whipped cream and serve. Grandma really knew what she was doing with this one!

The Bourbon Street Pecan Praline Pie is sure to tempt some taste buds this Easter with its fluffy, marshmallow creme texture.

Make Easter Merry with marshmallows

Impress the company this Easter season with a few taste-tempting desserts that will have them coming back for more each year.

If you are remembering the marshmallow bunnies, chicks and candies for the kids' Easter baskets, also remember to pick up some marshmallow creme for use in your Easter desserts. Sure to add fluff and flavor to most any treat, marshmallow creme is the easy and economical way to whip up a delicious dessert.

Here are a few desserts made with marshmallow creme that have garnered praise from food judges and dessert eaters alike. Try them on your holiday guests.

BOURBON STREET PECAN PRALINE PIE

1/2 cup packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons margarine
1 tablespoon water
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 egg yolk, beaten
1 cup coarsely chopped pecans, toasted
1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
1 7-oz. jar marshmallow creme
2 tablespoons bourbon
2 tablespoons water
3 cups whipped topping
1 9-inch graham cracker crumb crust

In heavy, 1-quart saucepan, combine sugar, margarine, water and salt. Cook over medium heat until sugar is dissolved. Stir small amount of hot mixture into egg yolk; return to hot mixture. Continue cooking, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove from heat. Stir in pecans. Spread mixture into 9-inch square on greased cookie sheet. Cool. Break into bite-size pieces.

Combine cream cheese and marshmallow creme, mixing at medium speed on electric mixer until well blended. Blend in bourbon and water. Reserve 1/2 cup praline pieces; fold remaining praline pieces and whipped topping into cream cheese mixture. Spoon into crust. Top with reserved praline pieces. Freeze until firm.

8 to 10 servings.

COCONUT PECAN PRALINES

1 16-oz. pkg. brown sugar
1 cup evaporated milk
1 7-oz. jar marshmallow creme
1/4 cup margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups coarsely chopped pecans
1 cup flaked coconut

Combine sugar and milk in 3-quart saucepan. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Cook over medium heat until mixture reaches soft ball stage (234 degrees). Remove from heat. Add marshmallow creme, margarine and vanilla, mix well. Stir in pecans and coconut. Drop by rounded teaspoons onto waxed paper. Cool at room temperature until firm.

Approximately 1 1/2 dozen.

LIME TART ELEGANTE

1/2 cup margarine
1/3 cup sugar
1 1/4 cups flour
1/2 cup chopped pistachio nuts
1 7-oz. jar marshmallow creme
1 cup sour cream
3 tablespoons lime juice
1 teaspoon grated lime peel
3 cups whipped topping

Beat margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Add flour; mix well. Press onto bottom and sides of 9-inch tart pan with removable bottom. Bake at 375 degrees 12 to 14 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool. Reserve 2 tablespoons pistachio nuts onto bottom of crust. Combine marshmallow creme, sour cream, juice and peel, mixing with electric mixer or wire whisk until well blended. Fold in whipped topping. Pour into crust; freeze. Remove from pan. Sprinkle with reserved pistachio nuts. Garnish with lime slices, if desired.

8 to 10 servings.

Variation: • Substitute toasted almonds for pistachio nuts.
• Omit pistachio nuts.
• Substitute 9- or 10-inch quiche dish for tart pan.

ANP Staff Writer

Easter may be marked with spanking new clothes and fancy hats, but it is the most important event of the year for many Christians and will be marked around the world with special celebrations and religious services.

Easter signifies the greatest event in the annual Christian calendar and forms the basis for the Christian religious philosophy, according to several local clergymen.

While much emphasis is placed on spring with all its newness, local clergymen remind local congregations about the meaning of the death and Resurrection of Christ.

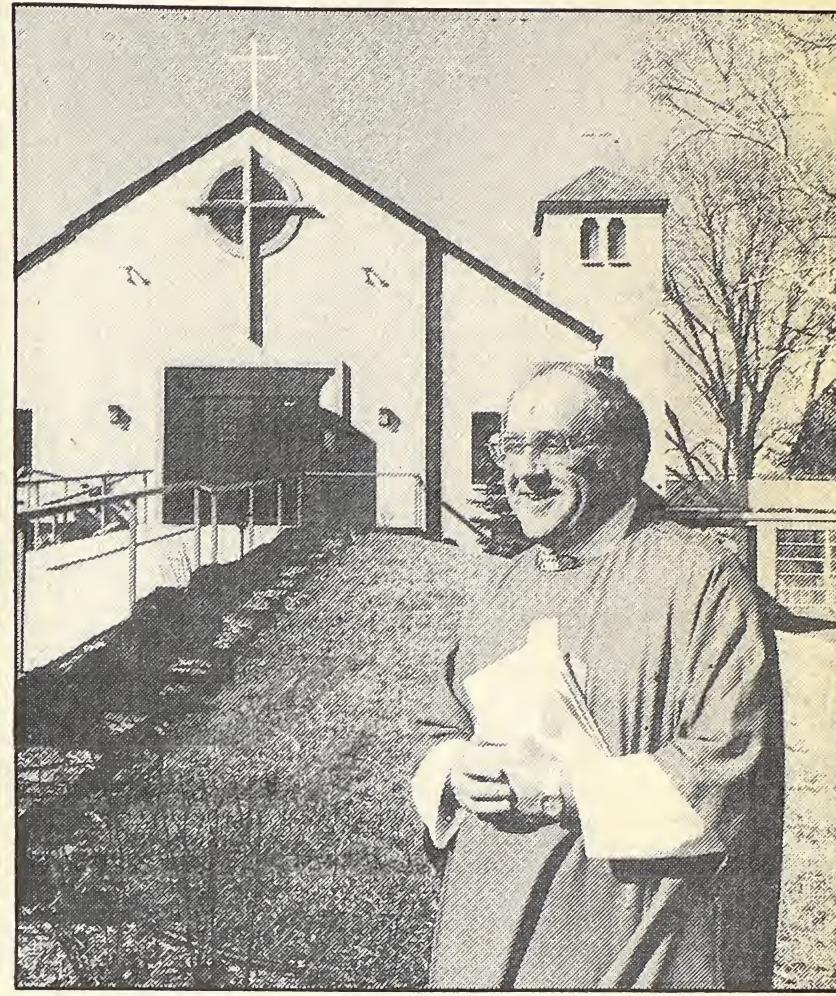

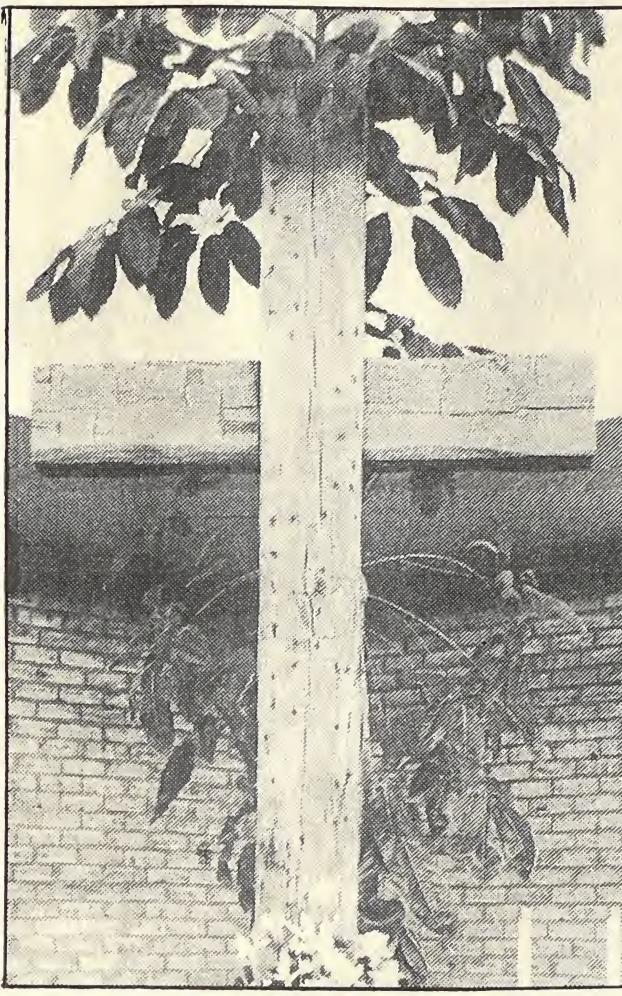

At the same time, they beam with pride knowing that church pews will swell with participants during Easter services. It is Easter, not Christmas, that draws people back to Christian churches even though they may not have attended services at any other time of the year.

"This is my busiest time," said Pastor Kenneth Gruebel of Geneva Presbyterian in Canton. "We can expect to add about 100 folks to our regular 250 members during Easter services. For a small church, our attendance is good."

Mr. Gruebel noted that when the economy dropped a few years ago so did church membership. "They left in droves. Over the past five years, attendance has steadily increased," he added.

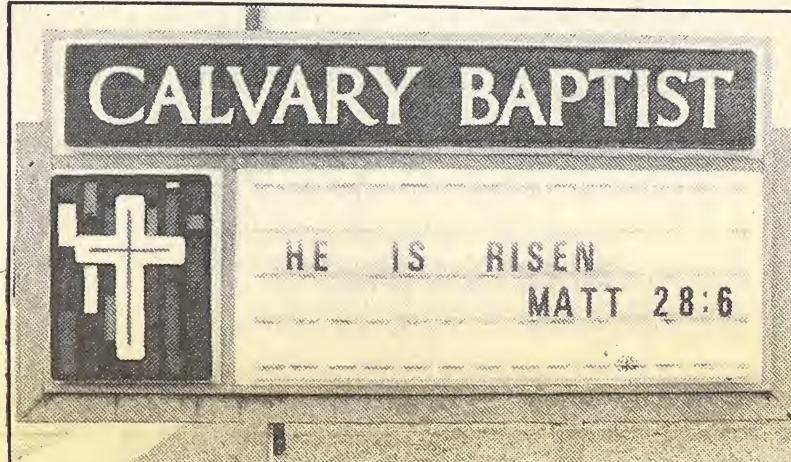

The season begins with Maundy Thursday and the Tenebrea Service on Good Friday. Tenebrea is an ancient service where scriptures pertaining to the final days of Christ are read. Hymns are sung, candles dimmed and participants quietly exit church with the light of only one lit candle, Greubel explained.

"This is real uncommon for our people who are usually a talkative group," he added. "In some respects our Easter services are normal, but I'm not so sure they're traditional at any time. But the flowers are more beautiful, the church more full, and I try to put more pizazz into sharing the good news."

Robert Baer, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Westland, noted that people fill the church more at Easter than Christmas. "It's better than double. We're never satisfied. If attendance was 100 percent, we wouldn't be happy," he said.

Above, the Rev. Walter Lezuchowski of St. Aloysius in Romulus prepares - along with other churches - for the Easter celebration.

New church section serves reader needsDear Reader:

This special church page is the newest edition to the Associated Newspapers, a weekly feature that we hope you will thoroughly enjoy.

We recognize the need for such a focus on local religious organizations in order to announce special calendar events, services, and noteworthy happenings within the organizations. We intend to fill that need with this page each week.

In future editions, you can look forward to the "church notes" column, special feature stories and photographs and a new guest column each week written by a minister in the area.

If you have story ideas or news for the "church notes" column, please send them to my attention as soon as possible. With your help and ideas, I know we can make this one of the most popular sections in our newspaper.

You may see other changes in our newspaper, changes that reveal our continuing effort to put you in your local newspaper. We were voted the best weekly newspaper in the state last year by the University of Michigan Press Club, and we intend to keep that distinction by winning your praise and contentment with our product.

As always, I like to hear your thoughts. If you have news or ideas, write: Associated Newspapers, P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Mich. 48184.

CHIROPRACTIC LIFE CENTER

1214 S. WAYNE RD., WESTLAND

YOUR CHOICE; METHOD OF HEALING

Those of us who are in ill health, will seek the services of one who is trained in the healing arts. We wish to place ourselves under the care of one who will restore our health. If we have never been under chiropractic care in the past, we will then wish to know what chiropractic can do for us? Will it improve my condition? How will chiropractic restore my health?

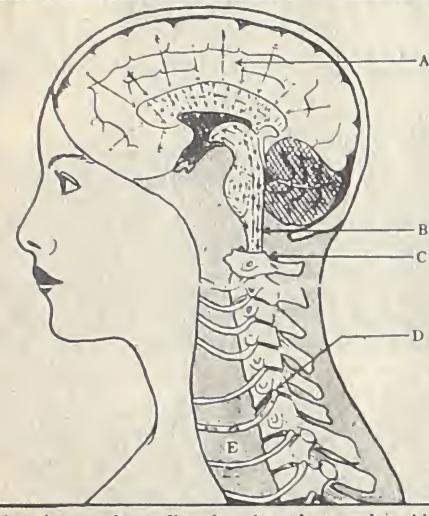

As a chiropractic patient, you will receive no drugs or undergo no surgery for your sickness.

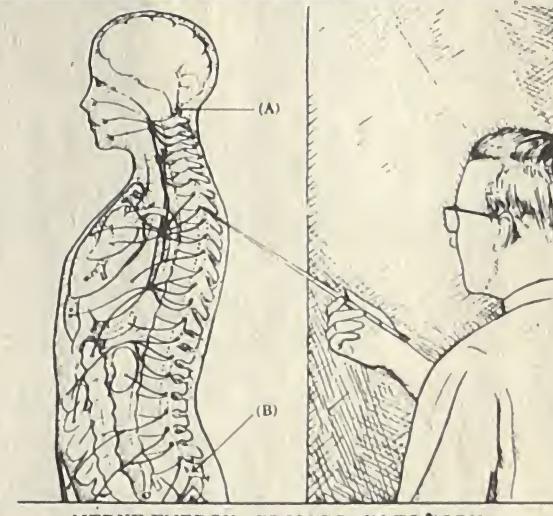

How then will you get well without the use of drugs or surgery? To properly understand this, we must realize that there is A CAUSE OF ILL HEALTH. This cause must be found and corrected to restore good health. What is this CAUSE and how can chiropractic correct it? After your case history has been taken, a SPINAL EXAMINATION will follow to locate the cause of your sickness.

All our bodily functions such as digestion, heart beat or breathing receive mental impulses or nerve energy from the brain, (A). These mental impulses flow down spinal cord, (B). Spinal cord enters spine, (C). Small openings between vertebrae, (D), permit nerves, (E), to emerge and to carry these vital mental impulses or nerve energy to all parts of our bodies. [See next page.] THESE VERTEBRAE ARE MOVABLE. THUS WE CAN SEE SHOULD A VERTEBRA SLIP OUT OF PLACE, THAT WOULD NARROW THE OPENING THUS PINCHING THE NERVE.

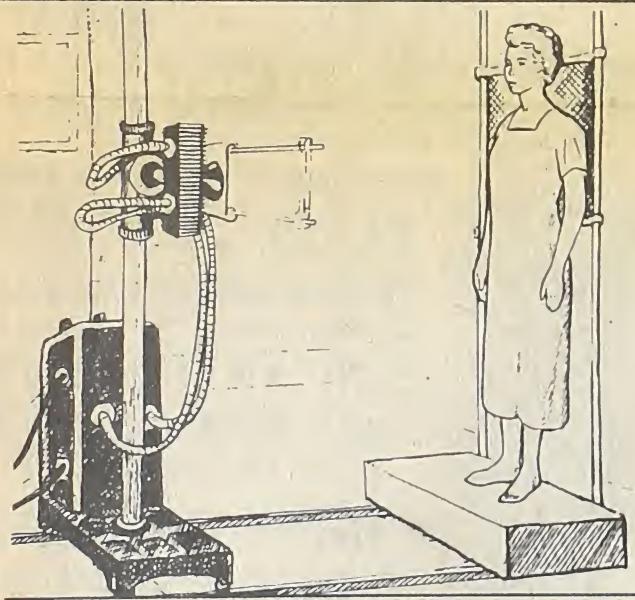

NERVE ENERGY; FROM BRAIN TO BODY

Our spine consists of 24 movable bony segments called vertebrae. The spinal column is not a solid bony structure. Rather it is hollow in its center to permit spinal cord, (A) to enter at the top and continue through its center to bottom of spine, (B). In between each vertebra are small openings to permit nerves, which branch off spinal cord, to emerge and to be distributed to various organs.

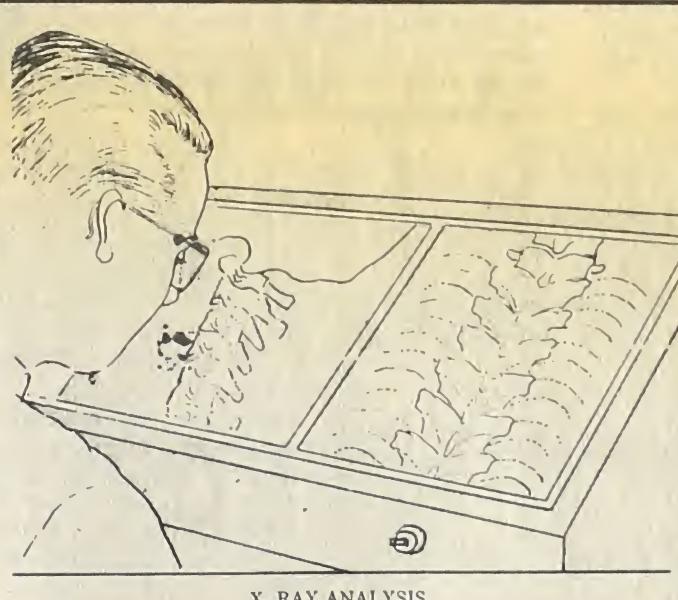

SUBLUXATION; THE CAUSE OF SICKNESS

Since our vertebrae of the spine are movable, it is then possible for one to slip out of place, (A). When this happens, it will narrow opening (B) thus pressing upon the nerve. This is called a subluxation. It will interfere with normal flow of nerve energy. Any interference with the normal transmission of vital mental impulses or nerve energy from brain to organs will result in sickness.

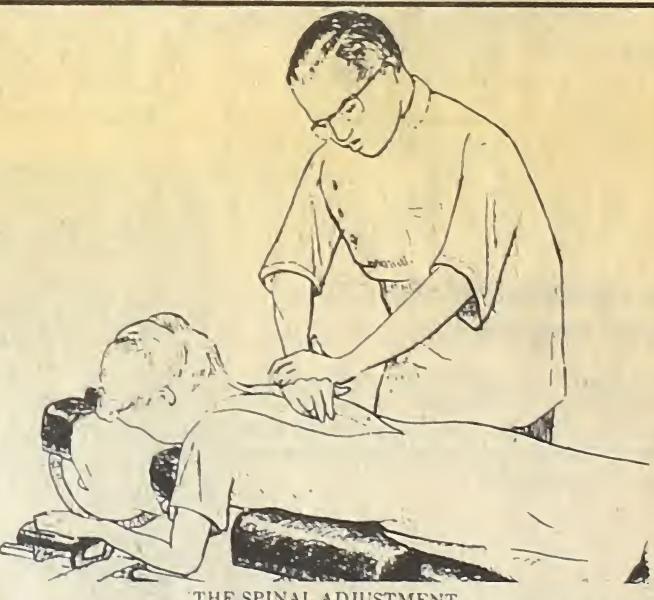

X-RAY EXAMINATION

Very beneficial in the examination of the patient is the X-Ray machine. If your chiropractor advises an X-Ray examination, your spine will then be X-Rayed, perhaps at different angles, to reveal its condition. Spinographs (X-Ray films of spine) are of great aid in locating subluxations.

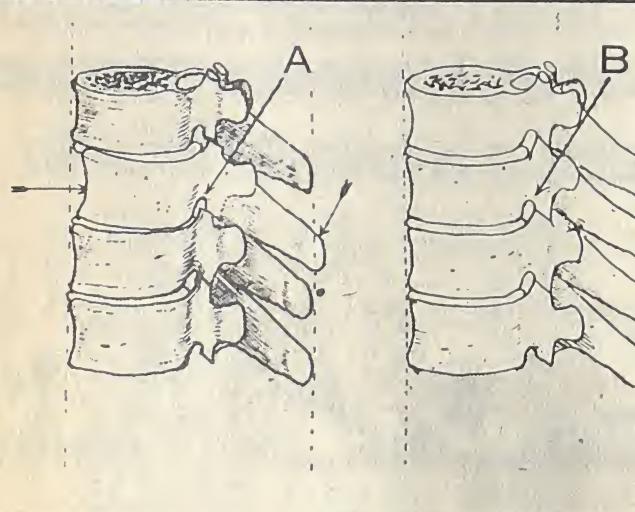

X-RAY ANALYSIS

After the X-Ray's have been taken, the films will be analyzed to determine if a subluxation is present. If the X-Ray films reveal a vertebra that is out of place, these same films will then aid the chiropractor in determining how to correct this subluxation.

THE SPINAL ADJUSTMENT

If the spinal examination reveals a subluxation, the chiropractor will then, by the use of his hands, adjust that vertebra in order to restore it to its normal position. The spinal adjustment is completed by the chiropractor with skill and efficiency with no discomfort to the patient.

SUBLUXATION; BEFORE AND AFTER ADJUSTMENTS

Section of spine at the left illustrates a vertebra that is slightly out of place. This subluxation will narrow small opening between vertebra (A) from which nerves emerge leading to various organs. (See page 6)

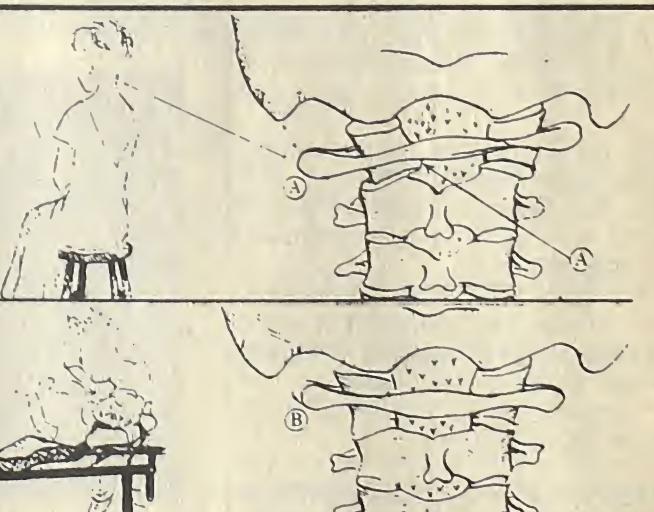

View at right shows how subluxated vertebra is restored to its normal position by spinal adjustments. OPENING BETWEEN VERTEBRA (B) IS NOW NORMAL.

THE CERVICAL OR NECK REGION

THE MOST FREELY MOVABLE part of the spine is in the neck region. Here the cervical vertebrae are constantly articulating as we move our head in different directions throughout our daily activities.

While this movement is normal, an abrupt turn, work or play habits that tend to keep head in certain positions for long periods of time, falls, strains and even sleep (improper head support) may cause a subluxation in this region.

UPPER CERVICAL ADJUSTMENT

Because the spinal cord leaves the brain and enters the spinal canal in the cervical (neck) region, a subluxation occurring here may put pressure upon the spinal cord, (A). This will interfere with the normal flow of vital mental impulses to the body and organs.

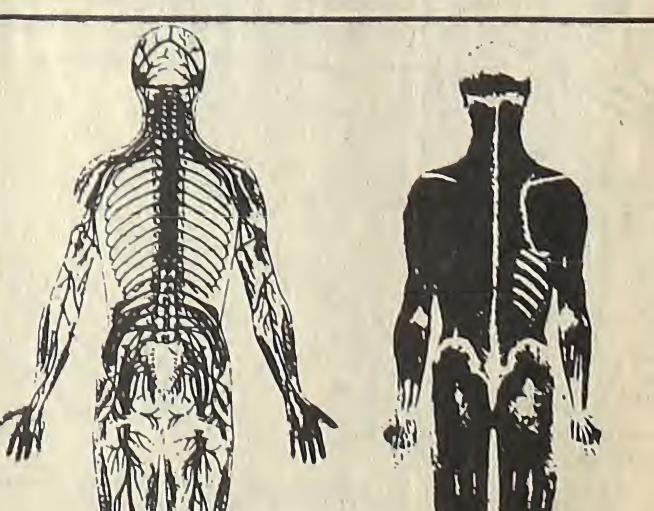

To correct this condition a NECK OR UPPER CERVICAL ADJUSTMENT will be necessary to restore vertebra to its normal position, (B), thus relieving pressure upon the spinal cord.

Many times a patient will have a chronic subluxation, (one of long duration). This subluxation may have developed over a period of time through certain work habits or perhaps during other activities that put a strain on the spine. It may be the result of a previous accident, fall, or strain. A subluxation of long standing may impair the efficiency of the surrounding muscles and tissues. That efficiency must be restored. Therefore adjustments over a period of time may be necessary to restore vertebra to its normal position.

Because of the nature of his work, the industrial worker is frequently subject to back injuries and strains. Lifting, loading, or perhaps certain machine or bench work may cause back trouble. Also subject to various back mishaps is the farmer. TIME LOST FROM WORK WILL BE LESSENED when the worker is put under chiropractic care following back injuries. At the same time, if a subluxation is present, it will be corrected thus preventing sickness later as a result of nerve pressure.
